Glossary of Terms

PVC	polyvinylchloride (PVC) polymer, which is simply basic plastic, and is, by nature, relatively rigid
Homogeneous	vinyl that is of uniform structure, one single layer, and composition throughout, usually consisting of vinyl plastic resins, plasticizers, fillers, pigments, and stabilizers.
Heterogeneous	Heterogeneous Vinyl floorcovering is a multi layer product which has a wealth of expressive patterns with unlimited design possibilities reinforced to reduce the cost of maintenance. This allows vinyl flooring to capture the look and feel of any natural flooring material with the added benefits only found in vinyl flooring.
Calendered	having a surface made smooth and glossy especially by pressing between rollers
Floor Speed	Dancers, teachers and choreographers will often describe a slippery floor as fast, not ideal for ballet. A fast floor is much appreciated by ballroom and some theatrical styles that require an degree of slide to execute the steps.
Marbleised	Having a marbled pattern
